Terms of Service

1. General Overview Olyngor Studio is a private practice focusing on distribution partnerships for digital products and services. These Terms of Service govern the use of the Olyngor Studio website and define the nature of the professional relationship with clients.

2. Professional Status Olyngor Studio operates as an independent practice. While Olyngor Studio may utilize contractors for specific tasks, all strategic decisions, quality control, and direct client relationships are managed solely by the principal administrator. References to 'the firm' or 'studio' imply this single-entity operation. All services are rendered under a professional capacity. Olyngor Studio is not a mass-market service provider; the work is executed through bespoke, individual project contracts.

3. Scope of Services Services are provided based on the specific technical requirements of each project. Olyngor Studio prioritizes operational stability, technical precision, and modularity. Any engagement or partnership is subject to the scope of work and conditions outlined in a separate, project-specific agreement.

4. Intellectual Property All original content, logo marks, technical methodologies, and architectural designs featured on this website are the property of Olyngor Studio. Any unauthorized reproduction or use of these materials is strictly prohibited.

5. Liability and Standards Olyngor Studio commits to high-performance standards and technical integrity. However, as a professional practice, Olyngor Studio's liability is limited to the scope defined within the specific service contracts agreed upon by both parties.

6. Transparency and Communication Olyngor Studio operates under a philosophy of technical clarity. Communication is direct, jargon-free, and grounded in honesty. Olyngor Studio reserves the right to decline projects that do not align with its standards or commitment to operational ethics.

7. Governing Law Any professional disputes or agreements are managed in accordance with the applicable laws of Olyngor Studio's base of operations. The practice prioritizes direct, professional resolution for any discrepancies that may arise during a project lifecycle.

Disputes arising under these terms shall be governed by the laws of the studio's jurisdiction of operation. However, Olyngor Studio remains open to negotiating specific legal frameworks as required by individual service agreements.
